VFW Sets Date For Annual Poppy Sale

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2150, McKinney, has announced that it will conduct its annual sale of Buddy Poppies on May 25. The announcement was made by Commander A. L. Renfro Jr., 912 E. Anthony Street and President Mary Stailey, 309 Oak Street, of the Ladies Auxiliary.

Mrs. Cleo Curtis and Miss Mary Stailey are Chairmen.

In accepting the position as chairman, they wish to point out to those participate in the campaign, that it could only be a success if all members of the community participated in the drive. They stressed the point that while the V. F. W. will lead the way, other citizens of the community also have an obligation to see that the campaign is a success, because the funds collected bo to assist all disabled Veterans.

The chairman noted that there are today more than 20,000,000 ex-servicemen still living and that the Veterans Administration cannot care completely for the multitude of cases it now has on hand. It is, therefore, up to organizations like the Veterans of Foreign Wars to take over the more urgent of these veterans problems. The V. F. W. can do this only if enough funds are raised through this annual sale of Buddy Poppies.

In conclusion the chairman stresses that all funds in the sale will be used to rehabilitate our disabled servicemen, to aid others in readjustment problems, and to provide a normal, healthy home life for war orphans at the V. F. W. National Home for Orphans, at Eaton Rapids, Michigan. Volunteer Buddy Poppy salemen will be stationed through out the city. Do not wait to be asked to buy a Buddy Poppy. Contribute generously, for your dime, quarter, or dollar could not possibly bring a greater return. "This is an investment in human life." Honor The dead by helping the Living.

When the Jaycees leased the facilities at the center from the Tex-Tex Foundation in 1954 it was with full realization that the combined efforts of all people in the community would be necessary for its success.

Thus far the Center has provided clean, wholesome entertainment and recreation for all—especially the youth of the city. However, in an effort to increase the facilities, and further the program, it will be necessary for the general community have some part in this project.

The purpose in changing the name of the Center, as stated by a Jaycee, is to give any organization, or individual, who contributes to the program, due credit for same. The Jaycees, at a recent board meeting, voted the change with this thought "Let's turn the Green Lights on at the Community Center and make it a place of Community pride and participation."

Fred Dickinson, returning from a fishing trip, stopped at Lowery Crossing to take refuge from a rain, and saw hail falling the size of a teacup. This same cloud was caught by the mild cool front and turned eastward, pasing north of McKinney, where a tornado dipped out of its front shortly before six o'clock, northwest of the Veterans Hospital. This tornado, a white one, formed in a few seconds, whirled toward the going rapidly eastward, and after some two minutes dissolved with violent whirling movement. No damage was reported, Celina got 1.30 inches of rain from the cloud.

This cloud then turned northward and practically came to a halt over Anna and Van Alstyne, dumping almost three inches of rain there from seven to eight o'clock. Some hail fell at Anna, measuring up to an inch in diameter.

The rainfall in McKinney and immediate vicinity was around .15 inch. It fell at 4:00 p.m.

PREPARE VEGETABLES CAREFULLY

Fresh vegetables are rich in food value. That is why raising your own vegetable garden is practical and profitable.

If, however, you buy your own fresh vegetables, select those with little waste, avoid those showing wilt, decay, bruises and other imperfections. Extension foods and nutrition specialists suggest you select young tender vegetables — the vitamin content is at its height then. It decreases as the vegetabie matures to over-ripeness.

Preserve vitamins by storing vegetables properly. The refrigerator is best for most of them, but onions and potatoes can be kept in a well-ventilated and dry area of the kitchen.

When it comes to cooking vegetables, cook them immediately after they are prepared, in their own jackets whole, when posible, and with a small amount of water. Begin cooking them in boiling water which has ben salted. Use a flat bottom pan with straight sides. Cover the pan for most green vegetables and all yellow ones. Stir only when necessary and cook until just tender. Serve as soon as possible after cooking.

Remember, most vegetables are good sources of vitamins and minerals which are necessary for the regulation of body processes. prepare and cook carefull to retain these nutrients in the food when you eat it.

NEWS FROM THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS — of — THE COLLIN CO. SOIL CONSERVATION DIST.

The National Council of Churches of Christ in USA have teamed up with the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts to provide for nation-wide observance of Soil Stewardship Week.

May 26 through June 2 has been designated this year as Soil Stewardship Week. Churches may select either of the two Sundays included that will best suit their program for observing Soil Stewardship Sunday.

The Collin Soil Conservation District is cooperating with the churches in its area by supplying literature and posters that are helpful in the program. Soil Stewardship bulletins have been given to the 150 churches of the district.

Field tours will be conducted by technicians of the Soil Conservation Service to acquaint ministers and laymen with conditions and treatment of the land. Recent heavy rains have served to point out man's responsibility in the stewardship of the land.

Nolen Fuquay, President, National Association of Soil Conservation Districts, stated that the nation's population has increased 18 million in the past six years. Considering this and our future needs can a nation be neglectful of its stewardship of the land and still be a truly religious nation? Can a farmer or rancher neglect the stewardship of the soil and still be a religious person?

Floodwater retarding structures were observed functioning at full capacity last week when the Collin Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors made a field trip over the Honey Creek Watershed Northwest of McKinney.

A recent 3½ to 4 inch rain falling on already saturated soil condition produced a tremendous runoff. Considerable erosion was observed on unprotected fields. Terraces that had melted down by years of farming without any maintenance had failed to stop the runoff and were broken and the fields washed. "Watersheds largely covered with conservation land treatment and the retarding structures showed evidence of a minimum amount of flooding as compared to those on which treatment is not so advanced," commented John Wells, Chairman of the Board.

Maintenance needs on retarding structures were studied and it was noted that damage to these structures has resulted from uncontrolled grazing which left the dam and spillway unprotected by vegetation cover, or caused trails and benching, along the slopes, Grazing when wet has damaged the structures in some cases. Fences were provided for each structure to prevent this problem, but in some cases, are not being used.

Representatives of the Corps of U. S. Army Engineers met with the Board to discuss their request to the District for technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Service in developing a conservation plan for treatment of Government owned lands around Lake Lavon which lies entirely within the Collin Soil Conservation District. Those representing the Engineers at the meeting were H. Holder, Manager of Lake Lavon; W. D. Swanson of the Real Estate Division of Fort Worth; and W. E. Burrows of the Operations Division at Fort Worth.

The Board assured the Army Engineers of its assistance and March 1, 1958, was set as the time for completion of the conservation plan. Soil Conservation Service work unit conservationists serving areas bordering the lake attended the meeting and participated in laying plans for the work. Those affected and attending were John Hagan of Plano; H. O. Evans of Rockwall; J. M. Norton of McKinney and M. W. Liston of Farmersville. Hagan was assigned the coordinating responsibility for the Soil Conservation Service.

...News From The... COUNTY AGENT

By V. L. DAHLBERG

ARMY WORMS. . .

During the past month conditions have been favorable for the build up of Army Worms due to rains and wet weather. These worms are now causing heavy, damage to corn, vetch, and small grains, crops in the county. Where worms are cutting heads of small grain, crops in the county. Where worms are cutting heads of small grains, poisons may be applied for control, either dusts or sprays are recommended and D. D. T. Toxaphene, or Toxaphene — O. O. T. may be used. Where the toxaphene and D. D. T. mixture is used farmers should attempt to apply between 1½ and 2 quarts per acre as a spray or 10 or 15 pounds per acre as a dust. When applying D. D. T. as a spray use ½ to 1 gallon of the two pounds per gallon mix.

It seems that worms are causing the most damage that have migrated from pasture into field crops and it maybe that by spraying the borders of the pastures the situation could 'be improved. With the return of warm sunshiney weather the natural enemies of these worms will begin to work and the danger from outbreak should be deminishing at that time.

MOSQUITOES CONTROL. . . .

Control mosquitoes in the home with a prepared household spray or aerosol bomb containing pyrethins or alletrins, or apply a residual household oil spray of 5 percent DDT and 2 per cent chlordane, 0:5 per cent dieldrin or 2 per cent malathoin to dark secluded spots under chairs, tables, beds bookcases in closets and behind pictures. Paint or spray malathoin on doors and windows.

A numbzer of mosquito repellents are marketed. When used according to directions on the label, they give several hours protection from mosquito bites.

Eliminate all standing water, if pssible. Check cisterns, water troughs, fish ponds or ornamental pond for wigglers. If present, treat water surface with nonleaded gasoline, 2 to 4 ounces per 100 sq. feet. Use caution to prevent creating a fire hazard.

Treat stock tanks with Kerosene; other bodies of water with fuel oil or diesel oil. In tanks with vegetaton, apply 9 ounces of oil per 100 square feet of watr surface or 30 gallons per acre. With no vegetation, Apply 2 to 4 ounces of oil per 100 sq. feet of water surface or 7 to 14 gallons per acre

Treat stagnate water, where fish and livestock do not present a problem, with 1 per cent emulsion or oil soluton of DDT, chlordane, toxaphene, TDE or methoxychlor; 1 oz. per 100 sq. feet, or about 10 quarts per acres of water surface. Use 0.5 per cent gamma BHC, dieldrin or heptachlor at the rate listed above. Repeat treatment as needed, usually at weekly intervals.

LETTERS FROM . . . THE PEOPLE

Prior to 1954, there was less racial strife than there had been since the Civil War. The Supreme Court that year rendered a mandatory decision for mixed schools disregarding all previous decisions of said court on that subject.

Though the claimed 300,000 memership of the NAACP, about 1-500 of our total population it seems to have induced said Court to render said decision and induced our two major parties to endorse said decision in their national platforms. Is not that as ridiculous as F.D.R.'s comparison of a 4 inch tail wagging a four foot dog. I hope the NAACP's escapes will not renew the old racial strife of carpet bag days.

It was the blood and valor of the white men who won Texas domain and set apart millions of acres of land which has put hundreds of millions of dollars in our permanent school fund and both the white and Negro children are enjoying $74. per capita appropriations and heavy property tax. White tax payers are paying the bulk of taxes to give the Negroes splendid schools and high paid teachers. Those Negroes who are grateful for the above and are willing to aid the whites to uphold Texas laws should be treated with kindness and justice. I think the Negro citizenship of McKinney will compare favorably with that of any city of its size in Texas. Before letting the NAACP take over our schools take a look at what they are doing in Washington and New York.

The fad of integration (mixing) seems be intoxicating the nation like a malignant epidemic. It was adopted by Washington, D. C., in 1945 in the schools. And sworn statements of teachers say they have to call the police an average of once a week to restrain the Negro boys from molesting white girls with notes and obscene language, and other escapades not suitable for children to read. And page 46 of the U. S. News & W. P. of Feb. 12, 1957 tells how the NAACP is transferring white pupils of largely white districts to Negro districts, and Negro pupils in alrgely Negro districts to white districts, and it shows how they are stressing dancing by having white girls in very short shorts dancing with Negro boys. Does not that conclusively show that the goal of the NAACP is not education but mongrelization of the white race?

Truman and Ike brag about integrating Negroes in the army. Life's Magazine (8-23-48) has a picture of 7 mulatto children, taken from a group of 552 mulatto children whose fathers, alleged to be American Negro soldiers and mothers white women of England. About that time a Negro man wrote to President Truman that the Negroes would ignore the draft law if the Negroes were discriminated against. Truman at once notified the military officers not to discriminate against any because of race. Neither the Negro nor Truman mentioned any discriminations. Since then a Negro sergeant of Ft. Hood armed himself and went to Waco and approached an airman talking to his betrothed and robbed him and alleged to have told the girl to disrobe. The airman interferred and the Negro killed him but the girl fled and he failed to inflict on the girl his crime worse than death. Matthew 2-16 says: "Herod went and slew all the children under two years old in Bethlehem and the coast thereof." Does not the above facts show that those who want to use the power of the Nation to force mixed schools on the South when no clause in the Constitution mentions it, worse enemies of the pure white women and innocent white children of the South since Herod?

YOUR HOME Towners' friend, Attorney Leon Moses and former Baylor Great, especially at the Boston U. game, and sports advisor to Your Home Towners, seems to be having a little trouble as the years roll on. Talking with his sweet wife, Lucille, whom we are proud to say is somewhat related to us, tells that Leon is getting a little forgetful. He leaves the house and forgets to take a handberchief with him. Often times he forgets his bill fold. A short time ago Lucille carried him to jail (Now don't misunderstand us) to see a client and he forgot his glasses. Now to top this off, Leon, along with Mrs. Leon, made a trip to Austin to see Leon's Mother and Father, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Moses, former residents of McKinney. He left Austin and when he arrived home he had left his new straw hat at Mamma's and Pappa's. Now Leon settle down old pardna' for someday you might forget to collect a fee from one of your many clients—And Brother that will be real forgittin'.

Citizens Warned Against Unreliable Scheme "Promoters"

Pat Simpson, Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, issued a new warning today about schemes and rackets designed to fleece persons who want to earn extra money at home.

Manager Simpson stated that, according to the National Better Business Bureau, with which Chamber is affailiated, the scheme is claiming victims in communities throughout the country. A special drive is being made by the National Better Business Bureau., local Better Business Bureaus, Chambers of Commerce, and reputable newspapers and magazines, to eliminate the racket. In this program, an effort is being made to acquaint the public with the workings of the scheme.

The Chamber Executive stated that promoters of "work at home" schemes make frequent use of classified advertising columns of newspapers. Classified advertisements and small display advertisements have also appeared in magazines.

Scores of different types of earn money-at-home schemes are currently active. The Chamber Manager states that some of them involve the sale of such varied merchandise as name plates, aprons, jewelry assembly kits, birds cages, beach robes, lamp shades and even rubber roses. In other earn-money-at-home schemes, the promoter sells nothing but "instructions."

Despite their diversity, one common denominator can be found in "homework" rackets. Persons responding to the rackets are required to buy something from the promoter. The promoters of homework schemes have no interest in setting people up in authentic business activties at home. Their purpose is to sell instructions and or merchandise to persons who respond to their advertising.

In many cases, persons responding to the advertising are required to remit a sum of money in order to find out the type of proposition involved. For example, the advertisement might reads as follows:

"WANTED: men and women to work at home. $25.-$50. per week. Spare time Send $1.00 for information."

In many cases, thousands of persons have responded to such advertising, and the promoter has therefore made a large sum of money simply from responses to his advertisement.

Persons who make such remittances receive information regarding the promoter's scheme. Experience indicates that little or no money can be made from the schemes of such promoters, and, in many cases, the homeworker may loses on the entire deal.

Mr. Simpson urged residents of McKinney to request information from the Chamber of Commerce before responding to advertisements offering spare time work at home.

"He further says, we have had some calls from residents of McKinney asking information about people in town wanting to get contracts to do Termite exterminating on homes, one of these concerns has been checked on in his home town and found to be unreliable. At this time of year we may have many of these callers and it is known this has become a racket in that many operators take contracts and apply only a few spots of some cheap substance collect their wee and move on to another town.

"During a wet year there is need of termite control and there are many reliable concerns who wil make a survey of the need for the property owner, give a fair estimate of the cost and will do a dependable job. For contact with this type firm if you do not know of one you can depned on we would suggest you call any local lumber dealer and they can recommend some firm; if you are in doubt about anyone calling at your home call the Chamber of Commerce and we will be glad to check on them."

Champion Car Races To Be Held At Guard Base

The second annual Texas National Championship Sports Car Races will be held in Fort Worth June 1-2 at the Eagle Mountain Lake National Guard Base.

As the only nationally-sanctioned sports car race to be held in the Southwest this year, the event will draw more than 200 leading drivers from all over the United States to compete in a full card of events to be run over a 3-mile course around the air strip at the base.

Held for the first time last year, the races were attended by approximately 17,000 spectators. Harry W. Schmidt, Chairman of the Lions Club Racing Council which sponsors the races, says that between 25,000 and 30,000 are expected this year because of the growing popularity of the races and because of the major changes which have been made in the race schedule as well as the course itself.

For the first time this year, races will be held on Saturday as well as Sunday. Two races are scheduled for Saturday and eight for Sunday, with the feature battle to be a 75-mile race late Sunday.

The course has been radically changed this year, also. The revisions in the course layout will include substitution of some critical curves and turns for a former straightaway stretch. The changes are predicted to produce more action.

Heading the list of outstanding drivers competing in this year's race are Caroll Shelby of Dallas and Phil Hill of California. Other notables expected this year include Paul O'Shea, John Von Neuman, Ritchie Ginther, Loyal Katskee, Bob Oker, Norman Scott, and SCCA President Jim Kimberly.

Advance tickets to the Texas National Championship Sports Car Races are now on sale at the Central Ticket Office, Hotel Texas, Fort Worth, or may be purchased from any Lion belonging to a Fort Worth Racing Council Club. In Dallas, tickets may be purchased from any of the sports car dealers.

Proceeds from the cases will be used for the Lions Club charities.

Plano Trips W-H And Evens Series 1 To 1

Plano didn't waste a thing Tuesday in beating Wilmer-Hutchins, 2-1, to draw even in their best-of-3 Class A bi-district baseball series.

The Wildcats stranded 13 base runners last Friday in dropping the opener, 4-1. Tuesday they scored two unearned runs with the aid of just one hit off Eagle Ace Marion Turner.

A loose infield proved Turner's biggest enemy in his battle with Glenn Fuller, the steady senior right-hander who spaced five hits and didn't allo wan earned run, either.

The deciding game will be played Friday. Officials hoped to get a lighted diamond in Dallas for a game Friday night.

Truett Smith Speaker At CC Meeting Tuesday

Truett Smith, prominent young South Collin banker and civic leader was guest speaker at the membership meeting of the McKinney Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon.

President A. H. Eubanks presided over the meeting, welcoming the many visitors. Minutes of previous meetings were read by Secretary Pat Simpson.

Interesting reports were made by directors, bringing the members up to date on "what the Chamber of Commerce is doing."

Charlie Angel, of the Transportation Committee, asked the CC's endorsemen of Highway 69 Association to make that highway, from Denison North to Atoka, Okla., an interstate highway. He then introduced John R. Taylor resident Engineer for the State Highway Department, who outlined progress on the Expressway, or Highway 75, which is under construction from the Dallas county line to the McKinney City Limits. Despite delays in delivery of structural steel, most of the roadway has been completed and some of the bridges are under construction at intersections. The steel has been received for the big intersection of Highway 121 and 75, and the work is going right along. There has been a delay on intersections along the section from a mile North of Plano to Campbell Road, which cannot be completed until in the Fall, due to delay in shipment of structural steel. Mr. Taylor assured the members and guests that as soon as these materials are delivered the highway will be completed.

J. C. Andrews, reporting for his committee on Legislative Action, announced that the committee had attended a meeting of the Old Cotton Belt Association concerning the allotment of cotton acreage in this area. Letters will be sent to Legislators from this county, urging their endorsement of two bills before the State Legislature, as well as to Congressmen for their support of any legislation which would benefit us. Chairman Andrews stated that a "letter campaign" would begin immediately.

The membership chairman, Audie Turrentine expressed his delight at the enthusiasm of his committee in securing 80 new members during the past month, which also means a substantial increase to the budget of the organization. He especially complimented Miss Madeline Moses for securing 51 new members, and asked that the CC award a life membership to any member who secures 50 or more members. This life membership to be presented at the annual banquet each year.

Joe Snapp reported 37 animals were shown during Dairy Day, with 55 merchants participating. He is chairman of the Agriculture Committee.

George Coulter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce reported on the success of the Teen Age Road-e-o, and stated that a Beauty Pageant has been planned for June 7 at the Community Center. He also reminded the members that in the future the Jaycee Cnter will be known as the Community Center.

The Public Relations Committee headed by Ramsey Harris has been busy the past few weeks visiting new CC members, as well as other newcomers to McKinney, extending welcome to them and assisting them in their church or civic club affiliation. This committee is also working on a new brochure on McKinney.

The Chamber of Commerce has joined the Better Business Bureau, according to the Trade Development Committee, Harry Asimakis, chairman. This will enable the local Chamber to be informed of undesirable persons or business trying to operate in the city.

The feature of the afternoon was a talk by Mr. Smith, who was introduced by President Eubanks. Mr. Truett, who has been one of the leaders in the rapid growth of Wylie, is executive officer of the bank, one of the publishers of the newspaper, a layman in the Methodist Church, and otherwise identified with all civic organizations in the community. The foresightedness of Mr. Smith, and other progressive citizens like him, have been rsponsible for the growth of the small community of several hundred persons into a modern little town of 1800 inhabitants.

The overall plan of the town calls for a program of expansion which will accommodate 8,000 people. It will be recalled that Wylie recently voted $420,000 in bonds for a sewer disposal plant and an expansion of water and sewer lines.

The speaker elaborated on the problems which faced the community, and how they are being coped with. Every citizen in Wylie, representing all "walks of life" were incorporated in the plans and through their willingness to cooperate, Wylie is continuing to grow.

Mr. Smith alluded to the facilities which the community has to offer new industries, or new residents, as inducment to locate in Wylie. At this point he stated that "What Wylie makes, makes McKinney and in turn makes Collin County." The long range plan of the Wylie people would be well to follow, and in many places is being used as an example.

Mr. Smith also briefly outlined some of the future plans which are being studied at this time. He reminded his hearers that less than 12 years ago there was no bank in Wylie, and 16 vacant buildings in the business district. Today there is a bank, all buildings occupied with ten new stores built.

In closing he stressed the need of a definite plan, and urged the cooperation of the people to put it into practice.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served in the lobby with the Central National Bank as host assisted by Fred McKinney of the Nehi Bottling Company and Mrs. Vena Phillips and George Coulter, of the Texas Power & Light Company.

NEIGHBOR HOWELL PAYS OFF "WAGER"

Laud Howell of Howell's Appliance and Furniture, wasn't at all reluctant to pay off a wager made with Tom W. Perkins of the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette recently. With the aid of one of those super power mowers from Howell's, Laud made quite work of Perkins' front lawn.

Our readers may remember that some days back, our next door neighbor Howell lost a sport coat and raincoat somewhere between the High School and the First Methodist Church. He made the proposition to "Your Home Town" Perkins to find the coat and he would be glad to mow the Perkins' lawn.

Well, a mere mention of the lost coats in "The Home Towners" Column of these papers was all that was needed to get them back. (Perkins knows the power of advertising). So, being a man of his word, Howell loaded up one of the new mowers from his store, gave it a good work-out on the Perkins lawn, (incidentally, the grass was three weeks high), and all were happy. "Lavon Punch" was the reward for Laud's job, which was well done.

Old Cotton Belt Unit Is Organized Recently At Celina

In a meeting of farmers and business men of Celina, held there recently a unit of the Old Cotton Belt Association was organized. H. A. Kinney was elected chairman; Homer Merritt, vice - chairman, and Cleon Hamilton, secretary and treasurer.

Tom Hymer, field representative of the Old Cotton Belt Association of Texas gave figures showing how Collin County has lost 20,000 cotton acres since 1950. Under the present law, Collin County will lose an additional 11,000 acres in 1958.

In 1950, a year in which controls were imposed, Collin County had 105,442 acres in cotton,. Following were three free years, or years in which there were no controls on the crop—1951, with 147-000 acres; 1952, with 124,000 acres, and 1953, with 115,962 acres.

Beginning with 1954, controls were again imposed. In that year, Collin had 93,076 acres. In 1955 81,000 acres; 1956, 90,931 acres; and 1957, 90,089 acres. Next year, Collin is due to be allotted only 78,785 acres, while some West Texas couties have received greately increased allotments.

To keep Collin County and other Northeast Texas coutries from losing more cotton acres the OCBA has had legislation introduced in the Congress to change the law to provide for allotments to be based on a 3-year history instead of the present 5-year history. This plan will eliminate two unmeasured years, 1951 and 1953 from the base. These years were favorable to irrigated areas of the state on account of excessive history adjustments made by USDA agencies.

The Old Cotton Belt Association is also backing Congressman Joage's bill, H. R. 877, which guarantees cotton growers 90 per cent of parity by making a direct payment to the grower of an amount not to exceed 15 per cent of parity. The loan support would be set at 75 per cent of parity. The payment to the farmer would be the difference between the loan or sales price, whichever is the higher, and 90 per cent of parity. This would lower the price of cotton, as supported by the loan, to where it would be in competition to synthetics and foreign-grown This would increase consumption of American cotton and eventually allow an increase of production.

The Old Cotton Belt Association is not a farm organization said Hymer, but is a cotton organization, representing the interests of cotton and those who live from growing areas of East,, Central, and Northeast Texas.

Kiwanians Hold "Ladies Night" Program

By NORMAN SCOTT

The McKiney Kiwanis Club observed "Ladies Night" at the First Methodist Church, Thursday night with Pat Faye, assistant producer and director of the TV telecast, "Confessions," as the guest speaker. Faye replaced Jack Wyatt, the producer of the show, who was unable to fulfill his engagement due to illness.

Kiwanis President Obe McCallum presided over the meeting which was held in the Educational Building.

Oliver Marrs led the group in the singing of "America" to open the program, and after the invocation by Lewis West, a delightful dinner was served to a crowd of approximately 150.

President McCallum then introduced a large number of guests, and program chairman Darrell W. Orr, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Faye.

Mr. Faye made a brief speech regarding the background of the TV show and stated that the telecast would soon be seen by milions from "coast to coast." He added, "one of the main purposes of the production was for better community understanding and to especially show the viewers how persons, who use narcotics, etc., eventually end up in crime."

The speaker presented Bill Frazer, a former McKinneyite, and Chief of the Narcotic Squad, Dallas Police Department. Mr. Frazier made a very interesting and informative talk on "narcotics" and explained how the addicts used marijuana, herroin, etc., and how it led to their downfall. He stated that ninety percent of crime was due to the use of narcotics.

Mr. Faye and Mr. Frazier collaborated in telling the audience of certain type of cases who were addicted to narcotics. They made the startling statement that "it costs some addicts as much as $150.00 per day to secure dope." In elaborating upon each individual type of addict, the speakers mixed humor with the serious side, and after the conclusion of their talks, a "question and answer period" was observed.

Another feature of the program was the rendition of two beautiful songs by Gloria Merditz. She is the wife of Dr. Lloyd A. Merbitz of the Veterans Adminstration Hospital staff.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a number of door prizes were given to the "lucky ladies." Victor Threlkeld was chairman for this occasion.

Soil Stewartship Week Obesrved From May 26 to June 2

The approach of Soil Stewardship Week, May 26 to June 2, sponsored by the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts and national church organizations, again focuses attention on the kinship between a man's spiritual beliefs and the soil resources on which his life depends.

Our awareness of such relationship is always with us, consciously or unconsciously. We find it in turning a spadeful of living soil in the cool of the morning, or in the mellow roll of the furrow slice at plowing time. For soil not only gives life, it in itself is a living thing, a combination of living organisms around a skeleton of finely ground particles of sand, silt, and clay.

All of us sense our dependence on the soil in the food we eat, many of the clothes we wear and in our homes.

With a bit of land, man enjoys its use and its harvest. To get the most from it, he gives it his best knowledge of management and culture. And of the culture he bestows on it, the highest form is wise use of land and conservation measures.

The good soil steward knows that conservation helps make the hope and the promise a reality, both now and for the decades and centuries to come.

Since soil is a God-given heritage to all people, man is merely its custodian and good stewardship is a sacred responsibility. Fortunately, it laso is good business since it results in higher income, better living, greater ease of farming, lower production costs and greater efficiency in the use of labor and machinery.

Not only the material benefits but the spiritual feeling of the land must be added together to explain the intense interest and widespread support of modern, scientific soil and water conservation which has swept the country in recent years. uch interest is seem in the long hours which thousands of nonsalaried soil conservation district supervisors are giving to speed up the program. It is seen in the many ways found by almost all groups to advance the conservation program. This is true of rural, urban, industrial, civic, professional, wildlife and other organizations.

The striking similiarity between definitions of Christian stewardship and of soil conservation probably is not a coincidence. Of the many definitions, two illustrate this point: "Christian stewardship is the systematic practice of using all one's powers and the material assets which have been intrusted to one's care for the furtherance of God's will and the fulfillment of His purpose." Conservation is frequently defined as "the wise use of natural resources to obtain maximum production for the benefit of man without damaging those resources for the continued use."
